Visual Hygiene Stations

Visual Communications will play a big role in providing a safe and healthy environment for employees and guest while they move throughout your facility. Each of us are trying to do our part by washing our hands more, coughing into our elbow, sneezing into a tissue, and using sanitizer or disinfectant wipes every few hours. Employers will be expected to reinforce and provided health, cleaning and hygienic materials in each space as their workforce returns?

How do you provide for your employees?

- > Provide masks & gloves
- > Take temperature checks
- > Provide sanitizing products and protective equipment

Prepare Your Workplace for a Safe and Successful Return

What else can employers do? Visual Hygiene Stations are the most effective way to keep employees safe that can be provided in visible locations in all areas of the facility. These protective tools should be everywhere from the main lobby, offices, restrooms, break rooms, manufacturing, operations to shipping and receiving. Visual reminders will drive prevention and stop future spread for a safe and hygienic workplace.
